Welcome to Mansfield

Incorporated in 1702, the Town of Mansfield recently celebrated its 300th anniversary. Mansfield was part of a tract of land acquired from the Mohegans by a group of settlers in Norwich. The first British settlement in Mansfield, probably before 1692, was established at Mansfield Center. Most of the first settlers were farmers, and Mansfield has remained largely a rural town. Rivers powered saw mills and grist mills from the early days, and during the nineteenth century, the Town supported a number of small industries. Mainly textiles, but also steel products, bits and augers, bells, bronze cannons, gunpowder, and organ pipes, were manufactured in Mansfield. The first silk mill in the United States was built at Hanks Hill in 1810, and for many years, Mansfield led the country in silk production. The Storrs Agricultural School was established in 1881 and became the University of Connecticut, now one of the largest employers in eastern Connecticut and U.S. News and World Report's top public university in New England. Come and enjoy historic Mansfield, located in the heart of eastern Connecticut!

OUT AND ABOUT IN MANSFIELD

Gurleyville Gristmill

The Gurleyville Gristmill is a 19th-century stone mill in the historic village of Gurleyville. It is the only stone mill of its kind in Connecticut and one of two or three in New England. The Gristmill contains a complete system of preserved milling equipment. It was built in 1835 and was operated for some years by the family of Wilbur Cross, who was born adjacent to this site, and served four terms as Governor of Connecticut in the 1930s. From Route 195, turn east on Gurleyville Road; in village turn south, then abruptly west onto Stone Mill Road. *The Gristmill is open to the public with tours every Sunday from noon to 4 pm beginning the Sunday after May 15 through the Sunday of Columbus Day weekend. Group tours can be arranged on other days. Call 860-429-5067, www.mansfield-history.org/gurleyvi.htm. B-4

Follow the Animal Trail and visit UConn's Dairy Bar

Take the family to experience the University of Connecticut roots as an agricultural school. The University's College of Agriculture and Natural Resources, and the Animal Science Department, welcome visitors to explore their barns located on Horsebarn Hill Road. Learn more about the animals cared for at the University. Dairy and beef cattle, horses, pigs, and sheep can all be seen at the north end of campus. While there, stop at UConn's Dairy Bar which serves 25 flavors of homemade ice cream and frozen yogurt. The Dairy Bar is located at 3636 Horsebarn Hill Road Extension (off of Route 195), www.canr.uconn.edu/ansci/dairybar/dbar.htm. B-3*

Storrs Farmers' Market

The Farmers' Market features fresh organic and conventional produce from local farms. Vegetables, cut flowers, cheeses, and breads are just some of the things you can find, while enjoying acoustic music by local artists. Located in the parking lot of St. Mark's Episcopal Chapel, 42 N. Eagleville Road. www.geocities.com/storrsfarmers. Open from May to October from 3 pm to 6 pm Saturdays. B-3*

One Room School Houses

Every village in Mansfield had its School House. Built in 1810, the Spring Hill School House (C-3), currently a private residence at 42 Spring Hill Road, served the Spring Hill area of Mansfield. The Eagleville School House (C-2) served school children whose parents worked in the mills in Eagleville in the 1800s. Currently, the school is the office of Joshua's Tract Conservation and Historic Trust.

Maple Syrup

See maple sap boiled into maple syrup and made into maple candy. Taste real Connecticut Maple Syrup at River's Edge Sugarhouse. River's Edge is a family-run sugarhouse located 1.5 miles south of Route 44. Visitors may watch syrup being made during February and March. Maple syrup, candy, cream, and jelly are available. 326 Mansfield Road (Route 89), Ashford, 860-429-1510, www.riversedgesugarhouse.com. Open year round.

Tours of Mansfield

Mansfield Tours offers small group narrated tours to historic sites, stonewalls, and hidden treasures.

Contact Mansfield Tours at 860-456-5540, info@mansfieldtours.com, or www.mansfieldtours.com.

Letterboxes

Letterboxing is a popular nature 'treasure hunt'. Children and adults enjoy this hobby, which originated in England. There are over 4000 letterboxes worldwide and 50 are located in Mansfield, making it the town with the highest number of letterboxes in the United States. Find boxes in Mansfield's stonewalls, silk mills, graveyards, General Stores, and many other historic and University locations. Clues can be obtained at www.Letterboxing.org. Anyone who wants to try letterboxing, can buy a stamp at Kathy-John's Food and Ice Cream & Gift Shop.

Graveyards & Cemeteries

Mansfield has numerous graveyards dating back to the time of the first settlers. One of the oldest is located behind the Storrs Congregational Church (B-3). Here you can see 17th & 18th century gravestones. One is so old, a 200 year old tree has grown around the marker!

Mansfield's General Stores

There were a number of general stores, which served Mansfield in the 1800's. The general stores supplied everything, which was not made on the farm including sugar, flour, salt, cloth, medicines, and treats like toys and candy. Three general stores remain today in Mansfield Center, Eagleville, and Mansfield Depot. The stores in Mansfield Depot and Mansfield Center housed post offices. The Mansfield Centre General Store housed the Community Tea Room upstairs where a piano was hoisted up through a hole in the floor for community events. These stores are still central community gathering spots.

Mansfield Centre General Store

534 Storrs Rd, Mansfield Center. Established in 1886, the store sells daily newspapers including The New York Times, gourmet coffee, cold beverages, soup, sandwiches, grinders, postcards, convenience items, bait, antiques, and Mansfield Historical Society items. Mansfield Poor House

Mansfield felt an obligation to assist those in need and maintained a poor house from 1861 to 1922. Built in 1720, this Saltbox-style home, located at 144 Maple Road, was run as an 'almshouse' by the Barrows-Gardiner Family for the entire 61 years. It had a reputation for being clean, homey and providing unlimited food, which was served family-style and prepared by the Gardiners with the help of the residents. Both homes are private residences and are not open to the public but can be enjoyed from the road when you drive by on your visit to Mansfield. C-3

RECREATION

Mansfield Community Center

Opened in November 2003, the Mansfield Community Center features a six-lane, 25-yard competition pool, gymnasium with elevated walking track, fitness center, dance and aerobics studio, and teen center. Community rooms are available. Guest fees range from $4 to $8 daily. Free web access. 10 S.
